Miss Jeanette Pates had as her week-end guests Misses Mary Clay Williams, Viola Koy and Zella Rice. On Friday evening she gave a hay ride in their honor and a Rook party Saturday evening. Miss Austin Lilly entertained with a Five Hundred party Saturday morning, and Miss Eliza Beth Turley with an Alhambra party that afternoon. The young ladies returned to Hamilton College, Sunday.

One of the loveliest parties of the week was given by Miss Laura Bright, who entertained at Rook on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, the guest of honor being Mrs. H. Vernon Lear, of Danville, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Neale. The decorations were all in yellow, large vases and bowls of rich flowers being used in the spacious parlors. The tallies were pretty affairs, and with white and yellow. The games were succeeded by a delicious luncheon of croquettes, fruit salad, potato chips, sandwiches, beaten biscuit, coffee, minis and almonds, and on leaving the guests were presented with a large, yellow chrysanthemum. Those who enjoyed the charming afternoon were: Mesdames H. Vernon Lear, A. R. Denny, J. G. Bosley, E. R. Garland, H. M. Blanton, I. J. Greenleaf, G. E. Lilly and J. L. Taylor, and Misses Madge Burnam, Tillie Douglas, Van Greenleaf and Helen Bennett.

Versailles, Ky., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The wedding of Miss Lottie Breckinridge Smith and Samuel C. Nuckolls, Jr., took place at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the Christian church, and was witnessed by a large gathering of society folk of this city and county and from a distance. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. J. Bamber. The four ushers, Messrs. Edward S. Stockton, of Richmond; R. Quinn Cogger, of Midway; William Haupt and Stuart Hunter, entered the church first, and were followed by the bride, on the arm of her brother, Mr. Paul M. Smith, in the left aisle, and the bridegroom and his best man, Judge Alfred H. Nuckolls, his brother, in the right aisle. The bride wore a handsome dark blue coat suit, trimmed in fur, and a black hat with green feathers. She had a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley. After a wedding trip, the destination not being revealed, Mr. and Mrs. Nuckolls will go to housekeeping on Morgan street. Both bride and bridegroom are prominent and popular in Bluegrass society. Mr. Nuckolls is secretary of the State Racing Commission and is also engaged in the real estate business.—Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Thos. Curtis was hostess of a beautiful luncheon on Wednesday at 1 o'clock. The table was exquisite with centerpiece of lace and graceful arrangement of white chrysanthemums and ferns. A most elaborate and delightful menu was served in six courses, covers being laid for the following guests: Mesdames T. T. Covington, J. P. Simmons, G. B. Turley, Sr., O. T. Burke, Alice Paris, S. P. Ross, H. M. Bosley, Edward Cornelius, W. L. Arnold, Bettie Slusher, James Shearer, Robt. Dunn, Wm. Mays and W. H. Arbuckle, the latter assisting in entertaining.

Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Vaught entertained at dinner on Wednesday evening in compliment to Miss Leta McKee and Mr. Robt. A. Kingery, of Chicago.

Mrs. Joe Boggs entertained with an elegant 6 o'clock dinner on Friday the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Deatherage, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Covington. In the center of the table was a fruit basket in the form of a pumpkin, and this was surrounded by black cats and witches. The place cards were also suggestive of Halloween and the menu of five courses was perfectly carried out from the delightful connoisseur to the ices which were served in small yellow baskets surmounted by broomies, witches and cats.

Mrs. Jennings Greenleaf entertained the Nullo Club on Tuesday afternoon at her home on West Main street.

Miss Tommie Cole Covington entertained a few friends most charmingly with a chafing dish party on Friday evening at her home on the Summit.

Mrs. Samuel Bennett announces the engagement of her daughter, Sue, to Ensign Allan Withers Ashbrook, of the United States Navy. The news is heard with much interest on account of the prominence of the two families and the popularity of the couple. Miss Bennett is charming, bright and attractive and is a lovely representative of a prominent old Kentucky family. Ensign Ashbrook is the oldest son of Mrs. Jennie Withers Ashbrook and he is here now for a visit to his grandmother, Mrs. William T. Withers, Sr. He is handsome, attractive and popular and also represents a family of prominence in Kentucky.—Lexington Herald.

The first meeting of the 'Young Ladies' Bridge Club was held with Miss Emma Watts on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The meeting was a most charming one and at the conclusion of the games a beautiful luncheon of old ham, chicken salad, beaten biscuit, potato chips, olives, coffee and salted almonds, with fancy candies, was served. The prize for this year will be a set of tea napkins, which will be given for the highest score for the eight games. The next meeting will be with Miss Mary Katherine White two weeks from Monday.

The Nullo Club will meet on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Dan Chennault on Lancaster avenue.

Miss Mattie Elder was hostess of an elegant dinner Sunday for Miss Mary Conway and her guests, Misses Louise Egalite and Veronica McKenna, of Lexington, and Miss Geneva Conway, of Winchester. Covers were laid for twelve.

The November meeting of the Woman's Club was held on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Christian church. The attendance was unusually large and one of the finest programmes of the year was given. Prof. Paul A. Greenamyre gave a forceful discussion of "Social Evolution," and Miss Jeanie Barron Hurst charmed the audience with her artistic rendering of "The Courage of the Commonplace." The next meeting will be on November 23, and the public is most cordially invited. The programme will be given by Hon. W. B. Smith, whose subject will be "The Constitution of Kentucky," and Mrs. Chas. A. Keith, who will discuss "Kentucky During the Revolution."

J. Tevis Cobb Dead.

Saturday afternoon a telegram was received from San Diego, Cal., by the family here announcing the death of Hon. J. Tevis Cobb, who died at that city about noon of that day. The announcement created some surprise, for it had been only the 16th day of October that he left here, and he was in the city about noon of that day. The announcement created some surprise, for it had been only the 16th day of October that he left here, and he was in the city about noon of that day.

Mr. Cobb was born in this county on the 22d day of May, 1856, and was 58 years of age at the time of his death. He graduated from Central University, this city, with the class of 1876 and after that taught school for a few years in that institution, and was one of the pupils of Hopkins University, of Baltimore, and took a post-graduate course, after which he went to Henderson, Ky., to teach for some twelve years. He was regarded as one of the best educators in the State. He then returned to Richmond and took up the practice of law. In 1894 he was elected county attorney of Madison, and was twice re-elected to the same office, serving in all eleven years.

Mr. Cobb was an energetic and aggressive lawyer and had a large and lucrative practice for many years of his life. He was marked by ill health, and he had practically given up his profession and was living quietly on his farm at the old homestead at Red House.

He had accumulated quite a fortune. One of the most distinguished characteristics of his life was the tender care that he showed for his father and mother in their declining years. He had been married to have been wrapped up in them.

He was a member of the Methodist church and had contributed largely to the erection of the new Methodist church at Red House and towards its maintenance. He was ever ready to assist in public enterprises.

One quality of Mr. Cobb was the readiness with which he made friends and his ability to hold them. Probably no man in the county had a larger number of friends than he.

Arrangements for the funeral cannot yet be announced, but the family at present think that the interment will occur in the Richmond Cemetery Friday, of which event announcements will be later made.

He is survived by two brothers, Silas, of San Diego, Cal., and C. W. Cobb, of Red House, and one sister, Mrs. W. H. Webb, of Louisville. He has several nephews and nieces, the children of a deceased sister, Mrs. Huguely.

A meeting of the Bar was held Tuesday day late for us to report in this issue.
